“ Happy trails, Dean. I first met you when I was about ten years old, when the original elk hunting camp with Al Cochran was still located at the mouth of Stray Gulch. For years after Al's passing and the remaining group moved the camp location up to the end of the road in Stray Gulch, you were long-time friends with my dad, J Allen, also know as "Al." Many hours on the trail on horseback, sharing stories and friendship around the camp fire, around the camp poker table, hauling hay, and riding those rough roads into and out of the Clockum. You should know that my dad's wish for his ashes was to have them spread at the "Little Green Man" camp - so look him up and you can share another laugh and a story.

“ My dad, Billy Joe Matthews, asked me to tell you that he misses Dean a lot. He said they were both old and just loved to visit. Dad always looked for Dean when he drove by his house (they were neighbors) and would stop and talk if he saw him out. He told me several times today "I really miss Dean". Dad is hosting a big family reunion the weekend of the memorial at the Grange Hall and is so sorry he will be unable to make it. All of my dad's siblings from all parts of the US are coming so he cannot get away. Heartfelt sympathies!
