“ My Dad was a great man who always did his best to provide for his family and always provided us with everything we needed. He shared his love of music, laughter, sports and always made sure that if we did something, we did it the right way. He dedicated countless hours to our endeavors and allowed us the chance to reach our full potential in anything we tried to do. His dedication was something that not many children are blessed with having in their lives. A few words here will never encompass everything he was.

Passing away suddenly is not fair, however, it has taught me a very important lesson. Tell those that you care about that you love them and do not take each day for granted. Don't think that those you love will always be there because they won't be. My belief is that Dad is in a far better place and is being rewarded for the great way he lived and the gifts he shared with others. I know I did not say it often enough, but always know forever and always, I love you Dad.
