“ I still can't believe you are gone. We had so many loving moments. I can still see Chase crawling up in your lap and taking a nap while you sat in your chair. He could do no wrong in your eyes. He was your little buddy. You were such an amazing person with so much love to share. I know we had a special bond you and I, as well as all the other people's life you touched. You were the first person I called when I had any news. I will miss all your wisdom and advice. You taught me how to love unconditionally, as well as many other life lessons. Words can't describe the heartache and loss we all feel without you...
