“ A lovely man has left the planet, he was my Uncle Don Lester, he was 88, lived a good life. He was an engineer for Boeing International. But mostly he was my fun uncle. He was always up for a good conversation / debate. He opened my eyes to different ways of thinking. He tried to teach me to golf, he took me to the top of the mountains in the Olympic national park, he took me to the top of Thimble mountain in his own back yard. When I was a child he would join our family at the Jersey shore, he knew how much I loved the ocean, he would take me out so deep, where no one else would go, we would have so much fun jumping the waves. He did this again with my children, always so engaged with his family. These two photos were taken years ago, after he came home from work, the second one I love because he's munching on the olive from his gin martini, which when i was old enough, we enjoyed together. I love you, dear soul..

“ I remember "Uncle Don" so fondly. He had a warm smile and twinkling eyes that just made me so happy. Visiting him and "Aunt Lu" with Joselle and Grace was wonderful. They made me feel like their family, as all of Joselle's family has. I am so sorry for their great loss and sadness. Heaven is a better place now that Don Lester is there.
