In the winter months after she retired from the Forest Service you could find her reading a good book, making beautiful quilts, or just enjoying time with her family and friends.
Mom was our rock and we will forever miss her.
Now she watches over those that love her, and will always remember the Great memories that she shared.

“The best things in life are the people you love, and the memories You’ve made along the way. Miss me a little, then let me go, Don’t cry for me, for my soul has been set free”
