“ Edith would have been so proud of her family as they headed out to finish the harvest. They honor her memory as she would have wanted them to get on with living. She loved harvest time and she had seen her fair share of them. It just had to be done, so just get on with it.

I loved Edith's view of life. She gave me a wonderful advice when I asked her what her 'secret' was....no doubt she had been asked many times before...and she said 'I just get up every day and do something'. That is great advice for us all that she really lived each day.

She made great, great potato salad.

As a 'home town girl' she accepted 'outsiders' so graciously. She was always kind to us and I enjoyed her company. She was wonderful at book club because she was insightful and not put off by some of the less than stellar books we read! She always came early to events and just jumped right in. Nothing was too hard or menial for her to help others.

She was so classy. Always dressing for the occasion. Evidenced by her spring hat!

Edith will be missed, but her memory will live forever in my heart, which is really all each of us can wish for. She planted herself so well there.

“ Edith has been a very special friend to my husband and me, since we moved to Waterville, in 2007. Two sweet things to share about her: 1) Edith shared her secret ingredient for fruit pies (She used brown sugar instead of white sugar), 2) Edith "gifted" me a lovely package of marigold seeds from her own garden. They are just now blooming Edith! Thank you! Love you so very much. Your beautiful smile and positive attitude will be missed by your friends and family.
