“ It is with a sad heart that I learned of the passing of this wonderful and selfless man. I worked along side Harold for years at both hospitals. He came to my bedside when I was hospitalized for an unexpected surgery and brightened my sadness. His kindness oozed from all parts of his body, like a light. He was a gentle soul who helped countless families and patients Journey through some of the worse times in their lives. He also had a smile on in the hallways of the hospital and he would greet you by name. I ve never forgotten this man. One thing he said to me in a day I was frantically looking for some paper or thing was, “ it s always in the last place you look!” He lightened the load. A great man who will live on in the hearts of so many people.
