“ My heart goes out to the family. Try to remember the good times and keep those positive memories alive by sharing them. Jason was a childhood best friend and we lived kiddie corner from each-other. I don't remember a day were we weren't out riding our BMX bikes, building jumps and doing those 70's things. Fishing at the point, or swimming at the pool, and playing football with Joe and Bobby. If only all of us would have know how specail those moments would end up being. Jason will always live in our memories and our hearts.

“ Jason is in nearly every childhood memory I have. Our time was filled with riding bikes, fishing, swimming, sledding and just being kids.

My boys never had a chance to meet Jason, but through stories and laughs about all the antics he and I had ... they knew him.
