May 8, 1928 - September 17, 2021

Jessie May McCubbin passed away at the age of 93 in her home of 66 years on Friday, September 17, 2021 after a lengthy battle with cancer. She was blessed to be surrounded by family members when she passed.

Jessie was born to George H. Jackson and Martha J. Cook on May 8, 1928 in Three Forks, Montana. She was one of six children which included her brother, Hugh, and four sisters, Georgetta (aka Patsy), Juanita, Doris, and Dolores (aka Tiny). Jessie attended school in Montana and in Chelan, Washington. She graduated from Chelan High School. After graduation, Jessie moved to Seattle and worked as a waitress in a café where she met the love of her life and future husband, Eugene C. McCubbin. They were married in Valdez, Alaska on April 7, 1952. They had two children, Frank Edward and Diana Mabelle.

Gene and Jessie returned to Washington and settled in Wenatchee where they purchased their family home on Orchard Avenue. In 1957, Gene and Jessie opened the first pizza restaurant in Wenatchee, Gino's Pizza. They owned and operated Gino's on the Wenatchee Avenue for over 30 years. After Gene's death in 1988, Jessie continued to work while attending classes in Ingham Method Reflexology. Upon completion, Jessie became certified to accept and serve clients which she did until shortly before her passing. In 1993, Jessie partnered with her son, Frank, and his wife, Cindy, in purchasing Shelly's Restaurant in the Valley North Mall until December of 2000.

Jessie believed in practicing good health and exercise. She loved to read self-help and natural health books. She believed in the power of magnets, crystals, and meditation. She was also a strong believer in the medicinal and health benefits of eating fresh garlic every day.

Jessie loved her home and she worked hard to maintain a clean, inviting atmosphere and appearance. She also worked tirelessly to keep her yard, garden, and flowerbeds manicured.

Through the years, Jessie was blessed with the opportunity to have three of her grandsons, Josh, Jeremy, and Kyle, and two of her sisters, Juanita and Tiny, live with her. She loved the company!

“ This story happened over 40 year ago but illustrates what a caring and wonderful person she was. I was enjoying an 80 cent pizza at Gino's and Jessie was working alone. The restaurant had recently enlarged and there was a large plate glass window in the wall, facing the street. On the sidewalk, a skirmish developed and somebody was pushed thru the window. Jessie sprang to action: quickly on the phone, crouched behind the counter she reached the police who responded in minutes. The problem resolved; Jessie circulated and made sure no glass flew into anybody's pie. She calmed every down and offered to make complimentary pizza for anyone who was harmed.
