“ Laura and my mother, Anne were roommates. Like a big sister, Laura looked after Mom. Day after day, for more than three years, Laura, Mom and I traded stories, many of them family related.

Laura was a master gardner; she loved composting and growing prize irises in California. In Wenatchee, I helped her grow tomatoes, sunflowers, petunias and marigolds, dealing with watering and all the pests and challenges. Mom and I gave Laura garden shears for her last two birthdays which she enjoyed immensely.

Laura commented that the smart phone sure was handy for researching garden pests and diseases as well as many other topics. Mom passed away in March and I continued to help Laura with gardening until she passed away in June.

*Laura, we will meet you in heaven and continue with the gardening.
With love, John.*
