August 22, 1919 - August 20, 2012

Lorna Louise Goodwin quietly slipped from this life on August 20, 2012, in Wenatchee.

She was born to Harrison and (Clara) June Painter on August 22, 1919, in Mansfield, WA. Raised on a farm near Mansfield, she attended Mud Springs School for about 7 years before attending school in Mansfield. She attended the Deaconess School of Nursing and became a Registered Nurse in 1940, the same year she met and married Basil Elmer Goodwin.

She worked for a while at Sacred Heart Hospital in Spokane, and later at Chelan Community Hospital where she was the Supervisor of Nurses for 7 years in the ‘50s and early 60’s.

Lorna and Elmer loved to travel and enjoyed many excursions with their travel trailer or motor home. They especially loved camping along the Twisp River over the years.

Elmer preceded her in death in 1987. Lorna is survived by her children: Gary Goodwin and wife Nancy of Spokane, Karon Hubbard and husband Duane of Manson, Raymond Goodwin and wife Sandy of Chelan, Stephen Goodwin and wife Bea of Wasilla, Alaska, as well as a lengthy list of grandchildren,

“ I cherish the memories of your trips to Alaska and the times that we shared(all the restaurants that you and I visited and split a lunch plate and the road trips that we went on). I loved the stories that you told us especially about your younger days as a nurse and meeting Elmer. You brought such laughter and wisdom to all of us. I miss you already. You were the best mother-in-law that a person could ask for. I love you Lorna, Bea
