“ I always loved visiting with Lucy. She was always laughing and smiling, and wanted to know what was "a-happenin" with everyone this week. Every year since I returned from WSU in 2001, I planted tomatoes so that I could bring her some straight from my garden. Fresh, ripe garden tomatoes were her favorites, and she loved being visited by us in her apartment. She always kept that little apartment neat as a pin. My favorite memories are when I was little, we would visit Lucy and Frank in Spokane, and they would let us play in the HUGE backyard, and then take us to the mall, where there was a little store called "The Sweet Shoppe" and I got to pick out a super-fancy dessert from there. When we were older, we got together to watch a Broadway play at the Paramount in Seattle. Cindy, Merlene, Lucy, Megan, and myself went to watch a play featuring Ann-Margaret. The play was pretty edgy for my grandmother, Merlene, but Lucy loved it and had a blast! Megan, Lucy, and I laughed all the way back to the car, which actually took quite some time because Lucy was using her walker then. Lucy was always the life of the party and I will miss her so much.

“ I remember going with Audrey to Spokane and go shopping with Lucy. She introduced me to my first escalator ride and let me ride it for hours. I remember her back yard so pretty with flowers and always having candy in the jars for us kids. I will miss you Lucy but find comfort that you are with The Lord and having the best family reunion.

“ I have many happy memories of Lucy from when I was a child, such as weekend trips to Spokane to see her and Frank, picking raspberries in her garden, and her letting my brother Jody and I "help" her make pancakes. We would wake her up VERY early for those pancakes and rather than be upset with us for waking her up so early, she always had a big smile on her face and made us feel like she was so happy we were there to visit her. We loved going to her house to visit and had many fun times there. My favorite thing that Lucy would say at family gatherings, is when I would ask how she was doing or what she was doing, she would reply with "Oh, just wondering why I'm the best looking one here" :-) Made me laugh every time and I can still hear her voice saying it! We love you Aunt Lucy and we will miss you so much!
