“ I'm really not sure how to do this. So I think I will write you a letter.

Dear Nancy

It's 2021 now. I've searched for you on and off for several years now because there is something I've wanted to share with you...In 1984 and 1985 I was a student at SAS, you were my English and home economics teacher also you were my friend.....I finally found you, I feel so bad right now I truly wish I could have said this to you in person...

I'm not going to get into to much detail but you knew how my home life was for me growing up...Nancy you were the first adult in my life that showed me compassion , Love and understanding.. I'm 54 now and just realizing how growing up the way I did has affected my life.. I could never be grateful enough for the things you showed me and helped me go through..you went above and beyond your duties as a teacher for me...I will never forget you. I would be honored to meet your family some day and give them a hug. You are exactly what this world needs more of, people like you....Thank you so very much. Your friend forever.

“ I was so sorry to hear of Nancy's passing. She was an amazing woman, who knew how to live life to its fullest!

I worked with Nancy at SAS for many years. She was an incredible teacher, and never stepped back from a challenge...even taking on new classes like aerobics and science--and always pushing her students to do their very best. Faculty meetings were much better when Nancy arrived...with a bag of ginger snaps in hand!

When Nancy was injured on one of her weekend pursuits, she would arrive on Monday mornings proudly showing off her casts, splints, or "road rashes," as a badge of courage!

Nancy touched so many lives and she will be greatly missed by all who knew her!

*Sincerely,
