“ To all the Marsons and extended family. I am so sorry for your loss. It's unfortunate we lost touch and I had no idea of her illness. Rosalie was a force of nature. A fierce advocate for her children and stalwart partner with Lee. She was intelligent and insightful with an irreverent sense of humor that I loved. She had conviction and was willing to fight for what she believed. Rosalie was also a talented artist and savvy businesswoman. Though I didn't know her in her youth, it is obvious the natural world excited and invigorated her. Her interests were broad and varied. She seemed fearless. Like all of us, Rosalie had her struggles but relied on her Indian based spirituality to guide her. She educated and instilled in her children the value of lost Native traditions and healing practices. I feel honored to have known her and enriched by the experience. She will be sorely missed.

“ What a wonderful lady! I loved Rosalie and had such great respect for her. She was kind, intelligent, and humorous! I loved laughing with her.
My deepest condolences to all her beautiful children and Lee and extended family. Love you all.
