“ He always called me "Bethie". On hot summer afternoons he would come home from work and take Debbie & me out on the lake in their boat "Lil' Deb". He would stop the boat in the shade of Mercer Island so that we could swim and he would sit and read the newspaper. He always seemed ready to put up with the antics of Deb & I, either in the backyard, on the Oregon coast or camping in the Cascades. I loved being included in his family's life. I will miss hearing him call me "Bethie".
