“ Little brother you were always a pain in my neck when we were kids always wanting to go everywhere I did and always tormenting me and getting me into trouble. But as we grew up you became my best friend someone I could call on if I needed to. When you came to CA with me and worked with me I was so excited I had my brother back. Then you had to go home to Nikki. I wish you would have stayed with us here. I miss you little brother, and I will forever be the man you said I was. I will not let u down I promise. Be good and rip until we meet again. P.s hit dad once for me. Lol

“ Joe. My precious son. I remember the day you were born, and I know the day you left me, and everything in between. You were such a spunky little guy. You always made me smile. You were your dads little helper in the garage. You helped dad work on cars and small little odd jobs. You were his buddy.. As you got older, after dad died, you were your own person. You would always say what was on your mind. Good or bad. I watched you grow into the man you'd become. So wise with words. You were such a wonderful and very intelligent young man. You are so smart and gifted. You always reached your goals you set for yourself. You never quit. I tried to give you a good life. I failed you so many times. We just had a tough life. You have made me mad, sad, smile and laugh so hard I couldn't stop. I miss you baby boy. You will always my baby boy. I love you so much Joe.....mom
